

Most Cited and Citing References

When you are searching Case Law on Westlaw Precision Australia, sorting the case results by Most Cited sorts case results by how often they have been cited in other documents on Westlaw.

This feature can be helpful if you have a well-formed legal issue, but you want to find a case that has been cited many times before.

How to use the Most Cited feature

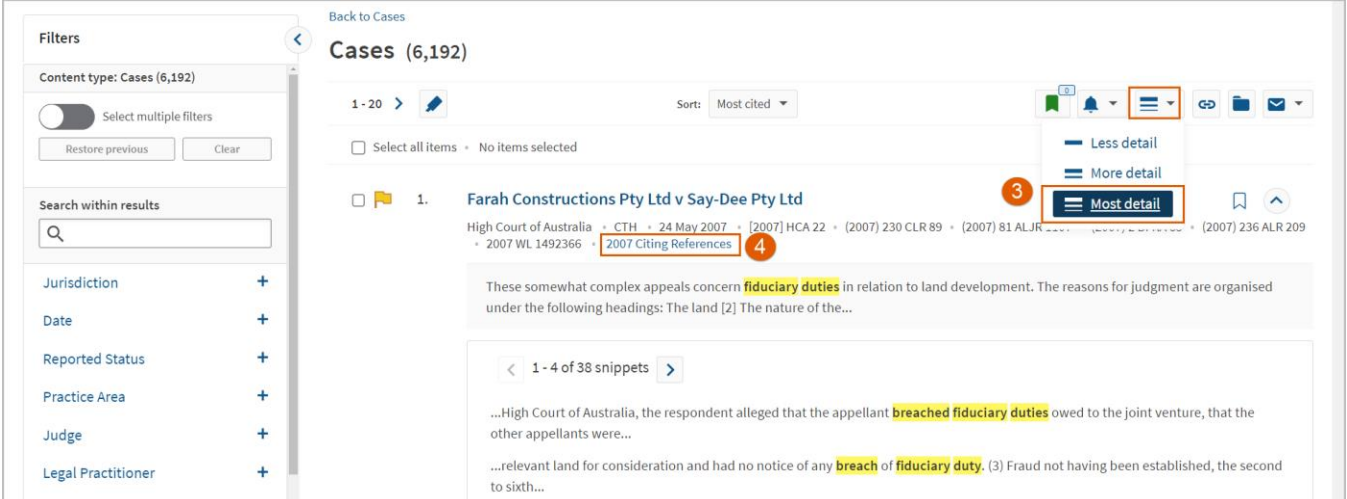

1. Conduct a case law search for a legal issue. E.g., breach of fiduciary duty.
2. By default, your results will be sorted by Relevance.
Change the Sort option to Most cited to display search results sorted by how often they have been cited in other documents on Westlaw.

The screenshot shows the Westlaw Precision Australia interface. At the top, the search bar contains 'breach of fiduciary duty' with a red circle '1' next to it. Below the search bar, the results are sorted by 'Relevance' (indicated by a red circle '2' next to the 'Relevance' option in the sort dropdown). The first result is 'Club of the Clubs Pty Ltd v Ki...' with a 'Most cited' count of 2. The page shows 6,192 cases and includes filters for Jurisdiction, Date, Reported Status, and Practice Area.

3. To view the total citing reference count in the result list, ensure the results are set to display the Most Detail.

4. Click the citing references count from the case result to display all documents that have cited the selected case.

 Note: Citing References include case law, legislation, secondary sources, and practical law materials that cite this case.

The screenshot displays the Westlaw Australia Precision interface. On the left, there is a 'Filters' sidebar with options for 'Content type: Cases (6,192)', 'Select multiple filters', and 'Search within results'. The main area shows a list of cases under the heading 'Cases (6,192)'. The first case, 'Farah Constructions Pty Ltd v Say-Dee Pty Ltd', is selected. The case details include the court (High Court of Australia), date (24 May 2007), and citation ([2007] HCA 22). A 'Citing References' link is highlighted with a red box and a '4' in a red circle. A 'Most detail' button is also highlighted with a red box and a '3' in a red circle. The case summary text is visible, mentioning 'fiduciary duties' and 'breach of fiduciary duty'.

Looking for more information?

To sign into Westlaw Australia Precision, visit <https://aulaw.thomsonreuters.com>

For assistance using Westlaw Precision Australia, call 1800 020 548

To request training, click <https://support.thomsonreuters.com.au/request-training>

For additional training materials, visit <https://support.thomsonreuters.com.au/product/westlaw-precision-australia>